La Chelé Medical Aesthetics Introduces Cutting-Edge Coolsculpting®
Treatment During Celebration of its Groundbreaking New Facility

New Hope, Pa. (October 2, 2014) – Already established as Bucks County’s premier medical spa, La Chelé Medical Aesthetics is now raising the bar for non-surgical rejuvenation procedures following a state-of-the-art expansion.

The stunning overhaul — unveiled during a red carpet event on September 18 — doubles the number of La Chelé’s treatment rooms to 12, spread over 5,000 square feet and across two levels. New technologies on offer include the latest innovation in non-surgical fat reduction: Coolsculpting, an FDA-cleared treatment that uses controlled cooling to eliminate diet- and exercise-resistant fat.

In addition, La Chelé has expanded its menu of restoration and relaxation services with the addition of a dedicated eyebrow sculpting station, La Brow Bar.

Named Best Med Spa by Philadelphia Magazine’s Best of Philly 2013 and honored with the Best Aesthetic Physician award by The Intelligencer’s Best of Bucks 2013, La Chelé is renowned for its leading-edge laser center. With 23 lasers in-house, La Chelé delivers unparalleled speed, safety and effectiveness in treating rosacea, melasma, hyperpigmentation, fine lines, wrinkles, acne, scars and sun-damaged skin. Tattoo removal is also available at the medical spa, as well as laser hair removal.

Several of these services were showcased during the September 18 event, when La Chelé’s team of licensed practitioners provided guests with complimentary consultations for techniques such as Ulthera, billed as a non-surgical facelift. The evening also served as a fundraiser for the critically-acclaimed dance troupe, Roxey Ballet, based in Lambertville, NJ, and featured hors d’oeuvres from Lilly’s Catering in Lambertville.
